

Ahana Roy, MD, FACP

Dr. Roy is a primary care physician who specializes in internal medicine. She completed her training at Calcutta National Medical College and Yale New Haven Hospital. Dr. Roy is clinically interested in diabetes, hypertension, high cholesterol, heart failure, asthma, and COPD. Outside of her work, she enjoys gardening, playing classical piano and traveling around the world.